Dow sees worst day in six years

COMMENTARY by Michael Taylor
When stock market falls, do nothing

U.S. investors have been spun into a frenzy of late. Because, as you might have heard, the U.S. stock market plummeted Monday. And not by a little. The Dow Jones industrial average, a market index made up of the stocks of 30 major U.S. companies, dropped by a record-setting 1,597 points. Investors continues on A8

Investors fear higher interest rates

BLOOMBERG
NEW YORK — President Donald Trump promoted “a tidal wave of good news” on the economy Monday as U.S. stocks plummeted in the second day of a sell-off. Investor fears about higher interest rates escalated into rapid, computer-generated selling Monday. At one point, the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 1,000 points in less than an hour, and it ended with its worst day in more than six years. Markets continues on A8

Clash over memo between Trump, Democrats looms

A House panel voted Monday to make public a classified Democratic memo rebutting GOP claims that the FBI and the Justice Department abused their powers to wiretap a former Trump campaign official. Earlier, President Donald Trump accused the panel's top Democrat of leaking confidential information. Page A6

DA once defended child abuse suspects

Five years before he became district attorney of Bexar County, Nico LaHood called fellow defense attorney Therese Huntzinger and asked if she would help him defend a client accused of aggravated sexual assault of a 9-year-old girl. “He called me to bring me in on it so he could learn from me on those cases,” Huntzinger recalled. “We were involved equally.”

Senators back ‘Dreamers’ bill

Proposal almost identical to Hurd's

By Bill Lambrecht
WASHINGTON BUREAU
WASHINGTON — A bipartisan bill to protect “Dreamers” that was engineered by San Antonio Republican Rep. Will

Hurd drew Senate backing Monday along with a dismissive tweet from President Donald Trump. Despite the Senate support, there was no indication that Congress would reach a compromise this week based on Hurd's proposal or any competing plan while focusing again on an emergency spending bill to head off another partial government shutdown. Sens. John McCain, R-Ariz., and Chris Coons, D-Del., introduced legislation nearly Dreamers continues on A9

Defense targets Cantu's testimony

By Patrick Danner and Guillermo Contreras
STAFF WRITERS
The government's star witness in state Sen. Carlos Uresti's criminal fraud trial finished testifying Monday, with the lawmaker's lead lawyer trying to dissect her testimony to show jurors that it doesn't square with what happened. Attorney Michael McCrum challenged Denise Cantu's earlier testimony that the lawmaker initiated a sexual relationship with her by commenting that she looked “sexy” while the two were in an elevator in San Antonio for a deposition she gave Uresti continues on A9
